Marshals receive boost for 2017 Manx Classic

Ahead of this April's Manx Classic, principally supported by Ramsey Crookall, Mylchreests and the Isle of Man Steam Packet Company, the organising Manx Motor Racing Club have announced enhancements to their marshals package to make the event as attractive a proposition as possible.

The event has been running since 1989 and this year it once again offers three days of action with a different challenge each day, from Thursday 27th to Saturday 29th April.

The opening day, sees the return of the Sloc hillclimb in the south of the island. On Friday 28th the action heads west, to the Creg Willey's hill climb and the event concludes on Saturday with one of the best known hill climbs in UK motorsport, Lhergy Frissell.

The event is only possible with the involvement of officials and marshals, and to offer the best possible package the club are offering:

- A lunch pack for each day
- *Manx Petroleum Shell vouchers of up to £30 to help with out-of-pocket expenses
- *An orange marshals overalls to your size, yours to keep

Announcing the new package Event Director Graham Malcom, says, "We have tried hard for the last ten years to develop our team on the Island and feel the time has now come to help the marshals in the same way as they are treated in the UK at a large proportion of events."

"We understand that there are of course many days when their support is needed at events on the island, and this package goes some way to offering the recognition they deserve."

Importantly, organisers are stressing that there is no need to be a registered/accredited MSA marshal to become involved, as there has been some confusion over a scheme being introduced for rallying, that does not apply to hill climbs.

*The vouchers will be awarded as £10 per day marshalled, and the marshal overalls will be available to those who cover all three days.

To be eligible for these parts of the package the event needs to hear from you by registering before Saturday 18th March 2017 and attending a training session on Saturday 8th April.
